I am a candidate for the Pirate branch of the Fusion party. I'm involved with Engineering Heritage Sydney, and have reviewed places of historical interest on my radio show, and have given talks which include reference to heritage for the SMSA. I have an interest in these areas.

However, I'm not comfortable with making commitments or filling in surveys. If things are not in our policy, I'm not willing to reach out in an hoc way. You're certainly welcome to contact us between elections when we're looking into policy, but just before an election is asking too much.

In my personal life, I'm involved with Engineering Heritage Sydney, and have reviewed places of historical interest on my radio show, and have given talks which include reference to heritage for the SMSA. I have an interest in these areas

My interest in heritage on my show has included the Budj Bim fish traps and the Juukan Gorge (caves). Other members have noticed the absence of reference to aboriginal heritage in your list, much as I have certainly also taken an interest in western heritage as well.

I am a strong advocate for the protection of our Indigenous Cultural Heritage having spent considerable time working with First Nation's People in Cape York on economic empowerment and developing employment opportunities that allow community members to remain on country. Locally here in Boothby, I am very much aware of the need to protect our heritage and was pleased the former Marshall Liberal Government strengthened heritage protection in Colonel Light Gardens through planning reforms and updated heritage guidelines that ensured the suburb's historical significance was maintained. I was also pleased to see the Historic Waite Gatehouse saved following community intervention and the advocacy of the former Liberal Member for Boothby, Nicolle Flint. If elected, I will be a strong advocate for heritage protection both within Boothby and more broadly. Thank you once again for taking the time to seek my views on this importance issue.

	Please provide any comments: The Liberal Democratic Party are a Freedom Party. We believe the people deserve to take the reigns. We Will support a Low Flat Tax Rate and an increased Tax Free Threshold. We believe we need to remove the Red Tape and Beaucrocracy around Not-For-Profit Organisations as well as Private Enterprise. We Believe that a reform in education, and a reduced cost of living, will allow the people to choose where they want their money to go. We believe in a truly free market, where the people will syphon funds to where they feel it is needed most. Therefore if Heritage Assets are important to the people then they will put their money towards that cause. That way the Not-For-Profits, or the private enterprise that want to preserve Heritage Assets, will do just that on merit alone. If the people believe that the heritage preservation not-for-profits are doing a good job at preserving Heritage Assets, then they will donate towards that cause. We believe in Freedom of Choice, and Freedom From Government

Please provide any comments: I am deeply committed to protecting heritage - natural, Indigenous, and more recent - and thank you for your work in this space. I do not personally or as a member of the Greens support the use of a National Lottery system as a funding source. Gambling causes immense harm in our society, and I do not believe that it is beneficial to allocate resources from such a harmful industry in such a way that further entrenches it in our society or enables the industry to make claims to being socially constructive in any way. We should be working to phase it out and reduce harm. In addition, gambling is an industry that extracts funding from those who have least, acting effectively as a hugely regressive tax. Heritage protection should not be based on a regressive tax. There is enormous wealth in Australia, extracted from our natural environment and our people. The Greens wish to see

	that wealth taxed to pay for universal services and protection of our environment. We want to see a 6% wealth tax on billionaires introduced, as well as the loopholes that enable 1 in 3 of the biggest corporations in Australia get away with paying no tax closed. That is where heritage protection funding should come from.

In responding to your survey, whilst I recognise the need for simplicity I can answer Yes to 1,2 and 4. For the others it is appropriate for me to qualify my response. I am a fierce advocate for evidence-based policy and trust that an important issue such as this would have the appropriate evidence base to ensure and enable an informed and appropriate response. I would welcome the opportunity to discuss these further, particularly in the event I earn the opportunity to represent the people of Casey.

Thanks for reaching out to me.

As a past member of the National Trust of Australia I do recognise that value and importance of preserving heritage for future generations. I also recognise that unscrupulous developers have destroyed important heritage items without being properly called to account and that more needs to be done in this area. I realise that my response is probably too late for your purposes but as a true Independent candidate I have many demands on my time including an amazing number of surveys/questionnaires for consideration. Unfortunately over the campaign there are insufficient hours in the day to give every request the research and due consideration it requires in order to adequately respond. As today is not a pre-polling day it is the first chance I have had to address some of the more complex requests. I acknowledge that your survey is very short and targeted but I have not had the opportunity to fully read into the issues and concerns. You can be assured however that I believe preservation of our heritage is vital.

	please provide any comments: Questions 4 & 5: The UK Heritage Lottery Fund may be a good model, some of its processes may be suitable to Australia, with proper inquiry and process. There is great scope that a Federal Ministry of Heritage is formulated, however this could be added to an already existing Ministry of Agriculture, Water and Environment. An added function is much cheaper to the Australian Taxpayers than generating another Ministry completely. This warrants further investigation, particularly protecting and preserving our building heritage.

Please provide any comments: In regards to the UK system, I think more detailed thought has to go

	into how heritage is funded in Australia (as opposed to the UK) which needs more consideration. I think Australia is already over-drenched in gambling so that might not be our best model. So give 5 and 4 a "no" only because of the funding model, not because of the necessity.

Please provide any comments: thank you for reaching out and thankyou for your ongoing work. I am a keen advocate of our national history and am strongly in favour of every effort to preserve our history and historical assets. I am a Builder by profession and have spent a large portion of my career in Heritage preservation work, which I am very passionate about. I have 4 young children in whom I am trying to instil the love of Australian History that I hold, to do this our physical historical assets being preserved is critical. Australia has a rich history that we should by and large be very proud of, an accurate and perpetual memory of our history is a critical key to ensuring that our Nation builds on the strengths of our culture, learns from our failures, and improves into the future. It is also critical to preserving our identity and sense of sovereignty as a nation. I look forward to supporting the AHAA into the future, regardless of the outcome of the upcoming election,

	Please provide any comments: "User pays" and other voluntarily funded government programmes tend to be the most successful. The UK's Heritage Lottery and Foundation is no exception, although there are two areas where their HLF has failed. These are accountability and scope. An Australian Heritage Lottery & Foundation must be accountable so that its funding can't be wasted in duplicating work already being performed by other organisations as occurs in the UK. In recent years, the UK's HLF has reduced funds going to defending the UK's proud heritage and instead have started pushing woke-ism under a banner of 'diversity' and 'climate change'. Our HLF would need to have their scope narrowly defined to protect our heritage and not to push

	political agendas. I would not support a new government ministry, we do after all have several which overlap in responsibility. For example the Ministry of Cities and the Arts, the Ministry of Multicultural Affairs, Ministry of Tourism and Investment, and the Ministry for Indigenous Australians and more. All of which cover some aspect of Australian heritage. You may already be aware of my support for the rebuilding of our maritime industries. If not, you can read my full platform on my website. I very much support user-pays and I believe that the heritage lottery system does fall into that category

If you are about Australia and Australians , I am in. I will do whatever is necessary to preserve and educate all Australians about Australia and it's development and progress through time. All aspects, Geology, flora ,fauna, architecture, minerals ,land, and so much more to preserve our Nation. Our Heritage is a name given to preserve all this but to me it is just so much more and to all Australians. I am in the midst of 1000 or more emails. I have not read into your policies but I see Truth and conviction. At IMOP we are Truth Transparency and Accountability in Politics, Science and the Media. I do not lie and I am 100% authentic and will commit to Australians Heritage.

Thank you for your email and the information about Australia's Heritage assets and the need to protect them. This issue is of importance to me and many constituents in Fisher. I do not complete surveys as I receive scores of them from many community organisations and have no control over how any responses may be managed or conveyed. Thank you for the work we do and your commitment to protecting Australia's heritage.

The Animal Justice Party shares your concerns about the state of Australia's heritage and the inadequacies of the federal heritage protection laws, especially in relation to our natural heritage.

The AJP has a suite of policies designed to address these problems which include the following:

Environmental Law

Wildlife Protection

Climate Change

Great Barrier Reef

Further Comment Although I agree with the premise of these questions, I fundamentally disagree with any policy funded by a lottery. I have seen how gambling has negatively affected my community and so I cannot support policy that uses it. However, I do think there are better options for funding heritage places in Australia and I intend to support policies to protect such places.

Please provide any comments:
I write in relation to correspondence from the Australian Heritage Advocacy Alliance and its 2022 Candidate Survey. It was a pleasure to meet with you earlier this year to discuss heritage policy and to understand the priorities of the Alliance. Labor understands that taking care of our natural and built heritage is critical to Australia's character and history. It's how we connect our stories and identity to the physical world, and it has a key role in the ongoing journey of reconciliation. Labor recognises the need for Government to take a greater role in the restoration and conservation of our national and world heritage sites. During the tenth anniversary of the UNESCO world heritage listing of the Australian Convict Sites, the Labor opposition successfully

	called for the inclusion of heritage infrastructure investment within the government's national COVID recovery plan. Despite the need for all heritage listed sites to have a suitable conservation management plan, the Liberal-National Government has failed to adequately monitor these plans and has also delayed finalising the midpoint review of the 2015 National Heritage Strategy. An Albanese Labor Government will address these failures. On the specific question of a national lottery, that is something that would need to be considered in government. While there is a need to ensure adequate funding for protecting and enhancing access to our heritage, establishing a national lottery with a heritage funding stream is not a small or straightforward undertaking. Of course, in Western Australia, which maintains a state lottery, funding is directed to heritage organisations and projects. Please note my correspondence is provided to you on behalf of all Australian Labor Party federal candidates and can be recorded as such. Once again, thank you for your advocacy.

I was unable to open up the program to respond to your survey on my I pad. I actually am very positive about what your doing and like that your main source of funding is via a lottery. As a libertarian party we are against increased government spending and are very supportive of community-based responses to solve problems. Heritage issues are very important for the social fabric of communities. So my failure to respond is not due to non support of your cause but due to my inability to navigate the response program

Prior to joining One Nation as a candidate I have been an advocate for many heritage buildings including Wattle Grove Parramatta, advocating against housing estate in the beautiful and historical Menangle Park and a housing estate at the original farm house in value heritage and history and believe it must be protected and preserved for future generations.

I note that there is no definition and I am keen to make clear that I consider heritage assets as including those of our First Nations Peoples such as birthing and direction trees, rock art and sacred sites. I understand there are separate provisions made for these assets but we need to see our heritage as extending beyond colonial times. I am also very keen to see a national integrated approach

	Please provide any comments: I have been made aware, specifically during the election campaign, that people in Kooyong are concerned about the heritage of our beautiful buildings and streetscapes. It is something many people in the community have raised. I am a supporter of heritage overlays and planning laws that protect our beautiful built environment. Planning laws sit with state and local government, but if elected. I am open to working with the local community to advocate for the preservation of important aspects of Kooyong's character and history. and would be involved at a national level.

Please provide any comments: The heritage of First Nations people requires active work, including legislation, to prevent mining and other interests destroying it. Socialist Alliance proposes to raise funding for public expenditure through a top tax marginal income tax rate of 70% for incomes over $200,000 (indexed for inflation), a wealth tax on the super rich and an immediate rise in company tax to 49% and an additional super-profits tax. Therefore a lottery of the kind discussed would not be needed, which would stop the government being reliant on gambling activities and taxation for policies that exist to serve the public good.

6.	I support the establishment of an Australian Ministry for Heritage dedicated to the protection, management and preservation of our shared heritage assets.	X
	Please provide any comments: I value heritage buildings, it is part of Australian culture and as we do not have thousands of years of heritage, we need to preserve as much as we can. I was unaware there is a lottery particularly for heritage assets. I do however support any initiative that will protect such assets.

I believe funding for essential heritage assets should be the responsibility of a government-owned national infrastructure bank, which is the Australian Citizens Party's priority policy, as per our Fighting Platform. See: https://citizensparty.org.au/election2022

	Please provide any comments We see a country's heritage, along with its arts, as the way in which the country defines itself. We therefore see heritage preservation as a central function of government. We would therefore not see a need to set up a lottery to pay for this. It ought to be, and will be under us, something that government takes on its own shoulders with pride and determination. Our Ministry for Heritage and our Ministry for the Arts would be always fully funded and the envy of other nations. But please be assured we say yes to all the questions. And on the question of climate change, we have the strongest climate policy in the country (indeed in the world with Norway and Finland) aiming at net zero emissions by 2030. We say we are in a climate emergency and nothing less will suffice. Please see our policy under Action on Climate Change at our policies section here: www.tnl.net.au/policies , authored by a former Chief Scientist at the CSIRO Dr Phil Schmidt, his colleague Dr Jeff Gill and world renowned economist Professor Steven Keen.

Please provide any comments: Preservation of our heritage is an issue that is very dear to my heart. I would say yes to all of the questions on your survey. It troubles me deeply that so many beautiful buildings, domestic and commercial, are torn down in Australia for the sake of the high rise dollar. When I visit the UK I always join the HHA and tour as many beautiful houses as I can cram into my stay there. I have been horrified at the destruction of beautiful Federation houses in Waverton for the sake of plain rectangular structures. This should never have been allowed. You can count on me to do everything in my power to preserve heritage and increase funding for it.

Didn't know about the UK Heritage Lottery, sounds like a good idea. However, it is important that funds raised are evenly spread to ensure not one aspect of heritage is saved at the expense of others i.e., not just European Heritage but also First Nations Heritage and Natural Heritage. It is also our history and all equally worthy of conservation

	Please comment: In addition to the extraordinary designs, craftsmanship, history and functionality of built heritage constructions, the stories behind them are vital to connect us to our histories. I am disgusted by the lack of focus given to these important relics and artefacts of our predecessors and agree with every suggestion from the AHAA. Bring on the election so a new political history is created and respect and honour are given to our forebears.

It is a Greens policy principle to ensure that planning decisions protect heritage, especially First Nations peoples' heritage, and end its destruction. 	Please provide any comments: National Heritage is extremely important in understanding who we are, where we have come from and the achievements of generations prior to ours. I recognise the work of the Australian Heritage Advocacy Alliance and am happy to complete their survey. While I have a background in the construction industry and I recognise the importance of building new projects to better the infrastructure of our cities and rural areas, heritage plays a big part in this. I feel that any new developments or construction must treat heritage as an important issue, similar to how environmental and community impacts are considered. While I support progress, it cannot come at the cost of our history and where appropriate, ways of integrating

	our heritage into the new surroundings or protecting the heritage item altogether should be paramount. The idea of an Australian National Heritage Lottery appeals to me, provided that the funds generated are used completely for their intentions. I would not like to see any money generated wasted or taken as profit for a third-party organisation.

	Please provide any comments: Our party believes in lower taxation and free markets. Heritage assets are best preserved by private organisations with purposes to preserve such assets. If Australians were taxed much less, then those individuals with a concern for these heritage assets could pool money together to purchase and preserve these assets. This is a much fairer way to approach this issue. Otherwise tax-payer funding is directed to heritage projects that the tax-payer may not find valuable or agree to.

We support truth, transparency and accountability in science, media and government, and reducing legislation, red tape and regulation to foster and invigorate the Australian people to act themselves without the need for overreaching and costly infrastructure of a nanny State. Therefore, I support the investigation into numbers 4-6 with the focus being on how to achieve the desired results without unnecessarily complicated, additional layering of bureaucracy.

	Please provide any comments: The heritage of First Nations people requires active work, including legislation, to prevent mining and other interests destroying it. Socialist Alliance proposes to raise funding for public expenditure through a top tax marginal income tax rate of 70% for incomes over $200,000 (indexed for inflation), a wealth tax on the super rich and an immediate rise in company tax to 49% and an additional super-profits tax. Therefore a lottery of the kind discussed would not be needed, which would stop the government being reliant on gambling activities and taxation for policies that exist to serve the public good.

	Please provide any comments: Progress is important, but so is our connection to our shared past. The promotion of our cultural and historical sites will not only protect them, but help educate future generations. The loss of Juukan Gorge in 2020 was a tragedy that should never be repeated. Legislation must be enacted ASAP to ensure that our remaining First Nation and Colonial heritage sites are protected. History cannot be undone, nor can it be ignored; it must be learnt. Fusion also support the Uluru Statement and expansion of the Indigenous Ranger program to allow the First Australians to manage and protect their cultural sites. As a bit of a history buff, this issue is close to my heart - I'd like my children to be able to physically visit the sites around Australia that were scenes of tragedy and triumph - of oppression and of adventure.

Political Party Statements on Heritage

Although the AHAA Survey was designed to be completed by candidates, it has attracted a diverse range of responses:

- Some candidates responded by completing the survey without further comment
- Some candidates responded by completing the survey and made personal comments
- Some candidates responded by completing the survey and sent political party policy statements
- Some parties responded on behalf of all of their candidates

Extracts from Political Party Policy Statements submitted by candidates in alphabetical order after the Electorate Listing:

- Animal Justice Party

The Animal Justice Party shares your concerns about the state of Australia's heritage and the inadequacies of the federal heritage protection laws, especially in relation to our natural heritage. The AJP has a suite of policies designed to address these problems which include the following:

Environmental Law, Wildlife Protection, Climate Change, Great Barrier Reef

https://nsw.animaljusticeparty.org/rohan_laxmanalal

- Australian Citizens Party – ACP

As our intent is to overturn the past 40yrs of neoliberal policies, the pathway will open for dialogue, discussion and mutual respect for both sacred ground and heritage areas within our country.

It will no longer be dominated by “money, profit and being used as a quarry for the benefit of the mining cartels.”

- Australian Labor Party - ALP

Labor understands that taking care of our natural and built heritage is critical to Australia’s character and history. It’s how we connect our stories and identity to the physical world, and it has a key role in the ongoing journey of reconciliation. Labor recognises the need for Government to take a greater role in the restoration and conservation of our national and world heritage sites. During the tenth anniversary of the UNESCO world heritage listing of the Australian Convict Sites, the Labor opposition successfully called for the inclusion of heritage infrastructure investment within the government’s national COVID recovery plan. Despite the need for all heritage listed sites to have a suitable conservation management plan, the Liberal-National Government has failed to adequately monitor these plans and has also delayed finalising the midpoint review of the 2015 National Heritage Strategy. An Albanese Labor Government will address these failures. On the specific question of a national lottery, that is something that would need to be considered in government. While there is a need to ensure adequate funding for protecting and enhancing access to our heritage, establishing a national lottery with a heritage funding stream is not a small or straightforward undertaking. Of course, in Western Australia, which maintains a state lottery, funding is directed to heritage organisations and projects. Please note my correspondence is provided to you on behalf of all Australian Labor Party candidates and can be recorded as such.

- Greens

The Greens recognise the value of Australians heritage assets and their importance for all Australians. Protecting heritage sites is a large part of the Greens plan for the future – for example, being strong advocates for policy to protect natural heritage sites like the Great Barrier Reef, and introducing legislation to protect First Nations heritage including sites, knowledge and science and artistic works amongst many other things.

We are very committed to preventing heritage loss and ensuring there is adequate policy and funding in place to do so. As such, we support a number of your policy solutions such as increased funding and the establishment of a body dedicated to heritage management and protection. That said, we believe there are alternative ways to fund heritage protection that may be more beneficial than a lottery fund. While people are entitled to choose to gamble and partake in lotteries, linking it to public services such as heritage protection as a funding source would conflict with the Greens belief in the need for national gambling reform, including the view that Government budgets should not be reliant on gambling income due to the inherent harms it can cause to individuals, families and communities around Australia.

Instead of relying on funding from gambling, which comes from the income of individual Australians across all socio-economic backgrounds, the Greens would fund our plans (including those involving heritage protection) by making big corporations and billionaires pay their fair share of tax. This would include a billionaires tax, a corporate super-profits tax and axing of the billions of subsidies provides to fossil fuel companies who do not pay their fair share of tax.

- Liberal Democratic Party - LDP

The Liberal Democratic Party are a Freedom Party. We believe the people deserve to take the reins. We Will support a Low Flat Tax Rate and an increased Tax Free Threshold. We believe we need to remove the Red Tape and Bureaucracy around Not-For-Profit Organisations as well as Private Enterprise. We Believe that a reform in education, and a reduced cost of living, will allow the people to choose where they want their money to go. We believe in a truly free market, where the people will syphon funds to where they feel it is needed most. Therefore if Heritage Assets are important to the people then they will put their money towards that cause. That way the Not-For-Profits, or the private enterprise that want to preserve Heritage Assets, will do just that on merit alone. If the people believe that the heritage preservation not-for-profits are doing a good job at preserving Heritage Assets, then they will donate towards that cause. We believe in Freedom of Choice, and Freedom From Government.

Our party believes in lower taxation and free markets. Heritage assets are best preserved by private organisations with purposes to preserve such assets. If Australians were taxed much less, then those individuals with a concern for these heritage assets could pool money together to purchase and preserve these assets. This is a much fairer way to approach this issue. Otherwise tax-payer funding is directed to heritage projects that the tax-payer may not find valuable or agree to.

- Australian Citizens Party – ACP

As our intent is to overturn the past 40yrs of neoliberal policies, the pathway will open for dialogue, discussion and mutual respect for both sacred ground and heritage areas within our country.

It will no longer be dominated by “money, profit and being used as a quarry for the benefit of the mining cartels.”

- Socialist Alliance Party - SAP

The heritage of First Nations people requires active work, including legislation, to prevent mining and other interests destroying it. Socialist Alliance proposes to raise funding for public expenditure through a top tax marginal income tax rate of 70% for incomes over $200,000 (indexed for inflation), a wealth tax on the super rich and an immediate rise in company tax to 49% and an additional super-profits tax. Therefore a lottery of the kind discussed would not be needed, which would stop the government being reliant on gambling activities and taxation for policies that exist to serve the public good.

- The New Liberal Party – TNL

We see a country’s heritage, along with its arts, as the way in which the country defines itself. We therefore see heritage preservation as a central function of government. We would therefore not see a need to set up a lottery to pay for this. It ought to be, and will be under us, something that government takes on its own shoulders with pride and determination. Our Ministry for Heritage and our Ministry for the Arts would be always fully funded and the envy of other nations.

- Liberal – LIB

The Morrison Government continues to recognise the importance of heritage and heritage sites to Australia and provides $5.3 million annually to the heritage grants program. Already this year, the 2022 grants program has provided funding for up to 28 projects at heritage sites across the country.

In addition, the Government is prioritising a review of the laws, policies and protections for our Indigenous cultural heritage through a unique partnership model with the First Nations Heritage Protection Alliance.

To further help preserve our heritage, our Government provided funds for conservation work and infrastructure upgrades across 23 national and world heritage sites, creating about 550 jobs. These sites are some of Australia's most treasured tourism drawcards and enhancing the visitor experience will help attract more visitors and support thousands of local businesses and jobs.

Our Government has ensured the heritage of Sydney Harbour will be protected in perpetuity by enshrining the Sydney Harbour Federation Trust as a permanent entity through legislation and a $60 million investment.

The Morrison Government has announced an additional $1 billion to protect the World Heritage listed Great Barrier Reef bringing total funding to an unprecedented $3 billion since 2014.

The record level of investment in the Reef is being driven by the best science and engagement with local communities and industries, and through working with Traditional Owners. Australia has 20 World Heritage listed properties and World Heritage nominations for the Murujuga Cultural Landscape in Western Australia and the Flinders Ranges in South Australia are under preparation.

In addition, more than $24 million has been provided to add 39 million hectares of land and sea country to the Indigenous Protected Areas network which will bring the total protected area to more than 117 million hectares. Managing IPAs across the country helps Indigenous communities protect the cultural and historic values of their country for future generations and results in significant health, education, economic and social benefits.

- United Australia Party UAP

UAP has a prosperous plan, and the whole of Tasmania we will be zoned rural. This means all Tasmanian Businesses and residents will receive 20% tax cut.

Economically Australia is now in a lot of debt. This trillion-dollar debt has been brought about by previous Labor and Liberal governments who both lack vision and know how to solve the problem. All they know to do is raise taxes and cut government spending on much needed health services education and infrastructure.

- Improved funding for aged care, health, hospital, doctors, dental, mental health, housing affordability, education, infrastructure, employment opportunities, health services, increase local industries and job creation
- Transparency and accountability of government and expose and stop corruption
- Taking care of our planet and our environment by supporting programs that help save all creatures from extinction
- Put Australia first - Stop foreign ownership of Australian Assets

There will be money for hospitals and health services, infrastructure, and education to name a few when we win office.
